CNG Unicom is your partner for profit with Unified Communications

A PROVEN PARTNER FOR SOLUTION PROVIDERS

Businesses today face so many challenges – economic uncertainty, escalating competition, growing globalization and the need to keep an increasingly mobile workforce connected, to name a few. Competitive advantage is the order of the day, so the solution providers that deliver real value to their customers will be the ones that grow and profit.

Unified Communications helps manage today's business challenges

Today's advanced Unified Communications (UC) systems, which integrate voice, video, data and mobility products and applications on a single IP network, address these key challenges for both end users and solution providers.

For end users, UC enables employees, customers, suppliers and partners to communicate and collaborate seamlessly, in the office or anywhere in the world. It provides great new ways to reduce costs, improve productivity and interact better with customers. And it gives employees greater flexibility to balance work and life.

For solution providers, UC is an exceptional sales and profit opportunity. By opening all the benefits of this exciting technology to your customers, you'll help them gain competitive advantage in today's challenging business environment.

Leverage our expertise so you can focus on yours

CNG Unicom is a leading provider of industry-standard Cisco Unified Communications and wireless solutions. With many successful implementations to our credit, we understand the communication challenges facing today's businesses, and understand how to turn those challenges into business opportunities.

Partnering with CNG Unicom enables solution providers to add UC to your portfolio of solutions without the need for special expertise, certifications or investment in people or technologies. That means you can gain all the business benefits of a UC offering, while maintaining focus on your core competencies and your bottom line.

A trusted partner, CNG Unicom offers a comprehensive range of services customized to your unique needs. We work with you to identify business opportunities, assess customer needs, build sales plans and RFPs, design and implement UC and wireless solutions and manage technological aspects of projects from beginning to end.

Here is just a sampling of collaborative projects with IT solution providers and consultants:

- Software/Computing: Upgrade the telephony environment to a comprehensive Cisco Unified Communications network.
- Financial/Banking: Large-scale WAN deployment including architecting and deployment; networking solutions to support security initiatives; communication system audit and evaluation (resulting in $1 million cost saving).
- Healthcare: Reconfiguration of a Voice-over-Wireless system.
- Industrial: Design and implementation of a WAN with multiple sites.

Partnering to heal a hospital's wireless woes

When a healthcare customer (a major hospital) had issues with a recently installed voice-over-wireless system, a leading IT consultant firm called on CNG Unicom for help.

A survey revealed the hospital's system was built on a platform that could not properly sustain it, and the technology had not been configured correctly. Based on advice from CNG Unicom, the hospital invested in the right equipment, had it configured correctly and successfully launched the voice-over-wireless system.

The experience with CNG and the partner was so positive, the hospital contracted them to continue their work on seven more floors of the facility.

Partnering to save a transportation company's successful UC launch

A North American transportation company wanted to implement Unified Communications. However, its technology partner lacked relevant experience. So they partnered with CNG Unicom for several aspects of the project, particularly to review the project design that had been created for the customer by a third party.

After an assessment of the company's existing environment, CNG Unicom identified some key design flaws, then worked with the customer to adapt the design and implementation plan for a successful launch of the UC system.
